LOCAL MAN MAKES CLOCK FOR ELKS LODGE ROOM

Roy Biddlecom Manufactures Timepiece of Attractive Design

The 11 o'clock toast to departed brothers given on meeting nights at the Glendale Elks' club was hereafter to be pledged when the eleventh hour is sounded by the chimes from a wonderfully and beautifully made art-glass electric clock, the handwork of Roy Biddlecom of 1008 Virginia Place, Glendale, and presented to the lodge by the San Fernando members at the San Fernando lodge last night, when between 600 and 700 Elks were in attendance.

As far as known the clock is the first of its kind and the only one owned by an Elks lodge. In addition to being a proud possession of the Glendale lodge it is to be prized by all Glendaleans for it was made in Glendale by a Glendale resident and will doubtless take the name of Glendale to all parts of the United States where there are Elks' lodges.

Electrically Run
The presentation was made by J. B. Douglas on behalf of the San Fernando members of the Glendale lodge.

The clock, which is made of art glass in the colors of purple and white, is twenty-two inches across the dial and is fitted into the mahogany pedestal of the exalted ruler. It is electrically run and is noiseless in its operation.

In the center of the face of the clock is an American flag, while the hours are blocked off, the figures designating the hours being white glass and the background purple. When the clock lights the hours the hour struck is lighted and when the hands reach 11 o'clock and the chimes sound, the American flag in the center is lighted while the toast is pledged to the absent brothers. Around the outer edge of the clock is a band of gold leaf.

Nation-Wide Interest
Mr. Biddlecom made every part of the mechanism of the clock in his garage shop at his home. It is said that another man attempted the same type of clock, but was unable to make it noiseless. However, Mr. Biddlecom was able to accomplish this in his clock and this feature will undoubtedly make his clock of nation-wide interest and popularity.

An unusually fine entertainment program was given last night and at the close a supper was served.

TELLS OF PLANS FOR FLOAT FUND

Civic Organizations to Aid Financially; Meeting to Be Held Tonight

J. G. Huntley, Peter F. Ferry and L. W. Chobe, appointed by the Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting, added several persons to the Glendale Float committee—Mrs. Mabel Tight, Fred Deal, Harry Rogers, L. T. Rowley, C. C. Cooper, the first four named to act in the capacity of a preparation committee, and P. F. Ferry, C. C. Cooper and one other to be named by the City Council as a finance committee.

The instructions to Mr. Chobe are emphatically $750 and no more as the total cost of the float. This amount is to be provided as stated before—$250 by the City Council, $250 by the Chamber of Commerce, and $250 from various Glendale organizations, three of which promptly responded to the call. These were: Elks, $50; Kiwanis club, $25; Knight of Columbus, $25.

No Individual Calls
It is the work of the finance committee to call on the other organizations and get their quotas. The committee states it is not responsible for the newspaper story asking citizens to contribute to that fund. It further states it is not the purpose to call on merchants or citizens individually to help raise the fund, but that they will appreciate the assistance of willing workers Saturday and Sunday, December 30 and 31, to help with the decorating.

E. F. Sanders was appointed to act as secretary, and C. C. Cooper treasurer. A meeting is called for 7:15 tonight, at the Chamber of Commerce hall, to work out further plans.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS
Spanish war veterans and members of their auxiliary will nominate and elect officers tomorrow night in Knights of Pythias hall at 103 West Park avenue. The retiring commander of the local camp is Capt. W. H. Reeves of 500 East Maple street, while Mrs. R. S. Hall of 717 North Isabel street is retiring president of the auxiliary.

Churches Prepare Christmas Programs For Last of Week

When Christmas comes as near to Sunday as it does this year the churches and Sunday schools seem to have a closer claim to the festivities than other years. Of course, the local churches are planning special services for their Sunday morning and evening worship hours and in addition many of them are to have a Christmas program some evening during the week.

Friday night has proven the most popular choice for many of the programs are announced for that night. But one church has chosen Saturday night for the program and a few are to have their special program at one of their Sunday services.

The churches and Sunday schools planning programs for Friday night, December 22 are: Pacific Avenue Methodist, St. Mark's Episcopal, First Baptist, First Methodist, Tropic Presbyterian, Casa Verdugo Methodist, First Presbyterian.

The Central Avenue Methodist will have a program Saturday night, while the First Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal South, Holy Family Catholic and Central Christian have announced that their programs will be part of the Sunday services.

Geddes Denies U. S. Plans Foreign Loan

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Sir Auckland Geddes, in response to a definite cablegram from the British foreign office, stated today that the United States "has not taken any action towards granting a loan to Europe nor participating in the reparations negotiations in Paris next month."

This message was sent to London by the British diplomat for the guidance of the British cabinet.

Announcement was made at the foreign office that the cabinet will hold a series of meetings during the coming week to consider reparations from all angles.

Washington dispatches warn the British against too much optimism over the possibility of American intervention in European affairs. The conflicting reports are having a mixed effect upon British sentiment.

The Westminster Gazette said that last week's stories indicating that the United States would help Germany had a salutary effect upon certain European governments and increased the strength of Premier Bonar Law's government in London.

The Daily Herald, organ of the British labor party, had "sharp criticism for the United States."

"No one knows what to expect from the United States," said this newspaper. "First America blows hot, then cold."

Montana Shaken by Earthquake Shocks

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 19.—Slight earthquake shocks were felt in Great Falls and Missoula, Mont., late last night, according to reports here today. No damage was done.

FURNISHES XMAS DINNER

The regular meeting of Group No. 2 of the Glendale Hi-Y society was held last night in the social hall of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The principal business order of the evening was the decision of the boys to furnish a needy Glendale family with a Christmas dinner "from chicken to dessert." Livingston Thom was appointed head of the relief committee.

George H. Wood of 1019 Compagnon street, Los Angeles, is now at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital with both bones in his right leg broken. He was working at 417 Garfield street about noon yesterday when some cement fell upon him.

UNDERGOES OPERATION
Mrs. Caroline Schultz of 1143 San Rafael road was operated on this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

JOINS POLICE FORCE
William LaRock of 341 North Kenwood street has been appointed a member of the Glendale police department.

Uncle John Says--

Me and Mary couldn't think what to get our grandson in Los Angeles for a Christmas present. He has got most everything from a radio set to a roadster all his own. Then I happened to read across the front page of The Glendale Evening News, "Something for the car, good Xmas gift. Buy it in Glendale." I just showed that to Mary without a word and she said, "My land I'm glad that's settled."

LOTS OF HARMONY AT COMMUNITY SINGING MEET

About 400 People Gather at High School and Enjoy Many Songs

The Christmas spirit prevailed in the Glendale union high school auditorium last night at the community sing.

About 400 residents of Glendale made the assembly room echo with the harmony of their voices. Neighborliness was emphasized as the keynote of the occasion.

Alex Mitchell of 2001 Kenneth Road acted as chairman of the evening. He made a few remarks concerning music as a harmonizing factor in community life.

Col. James W. Everington of 531 North Louise street spoke briefly on the subject of Community Service. He emphasized the fact that all money raised locally for this work will be spent in Glendale.

Directs Singing
Alexander Stewart, member of the Pacific Coast Community Service organization, directed the singing. He encouraged the audience to join in a number of songs in a novel manner.

The Glendale Music company of 109 North Brand boulevard distributed a number of song sheets containing the words of the community Christmas carols.

Solos were also sung by Mrs. Harry McMullin of 445 West Wilson avenue and Howard E. Carlan of 520 North Kenwood street. Miss Gertrude Chaplain of 441 Hathorn street was the accompanist of the evening.

Committee Goes on With Daugherty Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The judiciary committee of the house went ahead today with the investigation of Attorney General Daugherty and his administration of the department of justice.

Abandoned and defied by Representative Keller, Republican of Minnesota, original author of the charges against the attorney-general, the committee nevertheless continued the inquiry into Keller's charges by taking up Daugherty's alleged failure to prosecute war fraud cases.

Representatives Johnson of South Dakota and Woodruff of Michigan, both Republicans, and both war veterans, were the principal witnesses summoned by the committee today. Both have charged the attorney-general with laxity and failure to punish "war profiteers."

There were indications today that Keller will go free in his defiance of the judiciary committee by refusing to testify before it under oath. He may be called upon by the house to explain his charge that the judiciary committee was unfair, "packed" against him, and seeking to "whitewash" Daugherty.

Woodruff told the committee conditions at the department of justice had changed since April last, when he made his charges of delay against the attorney-general.

"Some six or eight cases have been brought by the department and I do not assume the role of prosecutor," Woodruff said. "With cases in court I would take no steps to embarrass the government in its prosecutions."

Mrs. W. E. Evans Is Hostess to Section

Mrs. W. E. Evans was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home at 333 North Orange street to members of the Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

The study of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" was continued and Mrs. H. C. Vandewater and Mrs. T. H. Hudson presented the scene between Romeo and Friar Laurence.

In addition to the regular study hour there were Christmas carols sung by Mrs. Gladys Gibbs Sherman and Mrs. W. F. Nash, Jr., accompanied by Mrs. Alma Gibbs, and two piano numbers by Mrs. H. R. Boyer.

Tea was served late in the afternoon by Mrs. W. E. Evans.

The next meeting of the section will be January 15, with Mrs. W. E. Halstead of Windsor road.

MRS. M. KAEDING IS CHOSEN AS HEAD OF AUXILIARY

Aid to Legion Post Names Officers; Installation on January the 8th

Mrs. Margaret Kaeding is to head the Women's Auxiliary of the local Legion post, according to the results of the annual election yesterday afternoon at the auxiliary meeting in the Legion hall on East Broadway.

Mrs. Kaeding will be assisted in the administration of organization by Mrs. L. T. Rowley, first vice president; Mrs. E. L. Sullivan, second vice president; Mrs. Charles T. Jones, secretary; Miss Josephine Snow Hyatt, treasurer; Mrs. E. Wheeler, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyatt, Mrs. W. B. Kelly, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward and Mrs. James McBryde, members of the executive board.

Business Session
Before the election took place Mrs. Chalmers Day presided over a business session, during which Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward reported on a revised constitution and by-laws to conform with the changes made in the national and state constitutions and by-laws. Mrs. Hayward was chairman of the committee to make the revision and her report was accepted.

Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyatt announced that the Auxiliary is expected to furnish home-made candy and entertainment for the Barlow sanitarium for New Year's eve. Mrs. W. B. Kelly is chairman of the plans.

Install January 8
Installation of the new officers is to take place January 8 and it is hoped that Mrs. Carol Marks of Los Angeles, national first vice president, will be honored guest and speaker. In addition to installation there will be initiation of candidates for membership.

Tea was served the latter part of the afternoon by Mesdames James McBryde and Charles T. Jones.

Troop Leaders Hold Meeting at Burbank

The Troop Leaders' roundtable meeting held Monday night at the Thomas A. Edison school at Burbank, is reported to have been a jolly affair. The room was full of Scout leaders from Glendale, Eagle Rock, La Crescenta, Tujunga, Burbank and other points. States Robert Eastman of Glendale, Troop No. 2.

The meeting was presided over by E. E. Thomas of Burbank. Among other things, it was decided that each Scout contribute a pound of cocoa and a can of condensed milk to the Christmas basket fund.

Following the business meeting the art of story-telling was extended to the boys by the very interesting twenty-minute talk, in which Victor Hugo's "Jean Valjean" was used as the chief example. Following this came singing. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Collins.

Budget Committee Will Meet Tonight

The possibility of reducing the grammar school system's proposed budget for the next year or two in conformity with the local school district's bonding capacity will be discussed tonight in the offices of the Board of Education at 109A South Brand boulevard by the budget committee of the Committee of Fifteen.

Members of 1218 South Glendale avenue is chairman of this committee. Other members are: Mrs. Myrtle C. Euckman, 1141 Winchester street; H. V. Henry, 353 Pioneer street; Harold L. Adams, 153 South Pacific avenue; Mrs. William R. Wichert, 1141 East Harvard street.

The Committee of Fifteen is scheduled to meet Thursday night with the grammar school Board of Education.

Glendale People on L. A. Radio Program

A radio program of particular interest to Glendale folk will be broadcasted from 8:20 to 9 o'clock Wednesday night, from the Earl C. Anthony station, at the corner of Tenth and Hope streets, Los Angeles.

Miss Hazel Linkogel will render a violin solo, followed by several songs by the Glendale Union High school quartet—Gertrude Heideman, Winifred Parker, Claude Whitfield and Robert Carver. A third Glendale number on the program will be a selection of readings by Miss Verna Mitchell.

MINOR OPERATION
A minor operation was performed on Miss Bertha Travis of 218 North Isabel street this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

IMPROVEMENT FOR POSTAL SERVICE IS OUTLINED

Postmaster Jackson Tells Business Men Plan to Increase Efficiency

The postal service situation in Glendale, past and future, and the difficulties that would arise in this respect were Glendale ever to annex to Los Angeles, were the keynotes of an address made before the Glendale Credit Men's Association yesterday by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

Postmaster Jackson's talk was made at the request of a committee comprising A. T. Cowan, Archie Parker and Dr. R. V. Hogue, which was appointed by the credit association at its meeting last week to investigate ways and means of improving the postal "pickup" mail service in the residential district.

In speaking of the latter matter, Postmaster Jackson told the credit men that he had been striving to remedy the "pickup" service in the residential district for months. He intimated that the only way that the city could hope to improve the handling of local mail is for civic organizations to cooperate with him in his requests to Washington.

Support Is Needed
"If the membership of the Credit Men's Association feels that the local postoffice department has given the public a good service under my supervision during the past year, I would like nothing better than to have the association endorse the improvements that I propose to make application for in the ensuing year," he said.

All postal services, here and everywhere, Postmaster Jackson let it be known, function according to the dictates of the postoffice department at Washington. He said if local organizations would cooperate with him in making applications to Washington for local postal improvements, the results would be more easily obtained.

At this juncture A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, moved that the postmaster's report of the local postal situation be drawn up in the form of (Continued on Page 3)

SCHOOL TEACHERS HOLD GATHERING

Richardson D. White Acts as Head of Committee on Resolutions

Resolutions to be submitted to the twenty-ninth annual session of the Southern Section of California Teachers' association for the approval of the 6,000 teachers in session in Los Angeles will be considered tonight by the committee on resolutions.

Richardson D. White, local superintendent of schools, is chairman of this committee and E. E. Harwood, superintendent of schools in Eagle Rock, is a member.

To request the state board of education to establish junior and senior courses in liberal arts and sciences is the subject of one resolution proposed by the grammar and high school teachers of Santa Monica.

Mr. White stated this morning that he was in favor of this resolution and had no doubt that it would be adopted. He called attention to the fact that pupils in this vicinity must travel 500 miles to reach the state university at Berkeley. He sees no reason why southern California should not have its own complete state university.

Makes Suggestions
"We respectfully suggest," states the tentative resolution, "that such authorization should include courses in English, French, Spanish, Latin, history, economics, government, education, philosophy, psychology, mathematics, chemistry, biology and physics."

"We congratulate the board of regents on the success already attained by the Southern Branch and we commend the extension of this committee and the summer session in southern California, and we commend to the legislature of California such liberal financial provisions as shall enable the University of California to continue the work so well begun and to successfully establish upper division courses in the Southern Branch."

TRUCKS IN COLLISION
Two trucks tried to occupy the same space about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A. L. Burchart of 1041 North Seward street, Los Angeles, was driving west on Palmer avenue, and J. R. Duval of 451 1/2 South Brand boulevard, was driving a truck for the Southern California Gas company north on Glendale avenue. Both trucks were damaged.

Today's World News in Brief

By International News Service Leased Wire

POLICE BELIEVE AGED WOMAN IS MURDERED

BUTLER, N. J., Dec. 19.—Her clothing torn and her face and body covered with blood, the body of Mrs. Catherine Durbel, 51 years old, was found lying face downward on a valley road here early today. Police believe she was murdered. She lived with her husband and children here.

CALL ON CHURCHES TO OBSERVE 'PEACE SUNDAY'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Urging the powers of the world to find means other than war to settle disputes, the Federal Council of Churches issued a Christian call today to 100,000 congregations to observe December 24 as world peace Sunday. The message requested concerted action not only at Christmas but throughout the year toward attaining "an eventually warless world through international co-operation."

U. S. MAY OFFER REWARD FOR BANDITS' CAPTURE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 19.—Governor W. J. Bailey of the tenth federal reserve district, announced here today that he has asked Washington for authority to offer a reward for the capture of the bandits who took $200,000 from guards at the United States mint at Denver yesterday and shot and killed one of the guards in a battle that ensued. No definite amount of reward will be decided on until authority is received from Washington, he stated.

ELEVEN HURT WHEN CAR IS STRUCK BY TRAIN

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 19.—Only the fact they were riding in a heavy steel coach saved a street car full of persons from instant death today when it was struck by a mail and express train on the Seaboard Air Line here. Eleven persons received injuries but all, it was said, will recover. The car was dashed from one side of the street to the other. Most of the injured were negroes.

SCORES CONFERENCE BY PROGRESSIVE FORCES

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—The farmer-labor party of the United States is not in sympathy with the conference for progressive political action, held in Cleveland December 11 and 12. That was the tone of a statement issued here today by J. G. Brown, secretary of the farmer-labor party. "The conference definitely and decisively turned its back on independent political action by the agricultural and industrial workers through a party of their own," Brown said.

MISSING AIR MAIL PILOT LOCATED, IS REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—A radio message to the United States air mail service headquarters here today announced that Air Mail Pilot H. G. Boonstra, missing since Friday, had been found safe and well at an isolated ranch where he had been cared for since his plane was forced to land east of Porcupine Ridge in Utah by a snow-storm. Boonstra's plane was found yesterday and searching parties today located him at a point far remote from civilization.

'BEAUTY SQUADS' WILL AID DRY ENFORCEMENT

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—"Beauty squads" composed of fashionably gowned women and men wearing evening clothes were being mobilized today to work with a "mop up" army of 250 dry agents for a strict enforcement of prohibition laws in Chicago over the holidays. Wholesale raids are contemplated. Every restaurant and cafe will be watched. When the "beauty squad" sees liquor being drunk, they will telephone headquarters. Then the place will be raided.

HOLD RAIL OFFICIALS TO BLAME FOR BIG WRECK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Operating officials of the Pennsylvania railroad are "open to censure" for a rear end collision between two passenger trains at Cincinnati on November 7, which resulted in the death of one person and the injury of sixty-one, according to an official report to the interstate commerce commission today from its bureau of safety. Defective air brakes on one of the engines, the report said, was directly responsible for the accident.

TWO SUSPECTS CAPTURED AFTER GUN BATTLE

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 19.—Captured after a gun battle when caught in the act of rifling a merchandise car on the Northwestern Pacific railroad at Shellville, south of Sonoma, Fred H. Davis and H. H. Blair were brought to the county jail today by Deputy Sheriff Joseph A. Ryan. Davis is alleged to have fired six shots at Ryan, two of the bullets passing through the officer's clothing but not touching his body. Loot was found in the two men's effects from a Penn Grove store, robbed a few nights ago.

AERIAL SEARCH FOR LOST AVIATORS IS ENDED

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 19.—Twenty of the airplanes which have for more than a week been engaged in the search for Colonel Marshall and Lieutenant Webber, lost aviators, returned to Rockwell field today. The aerial search has been abandoned, army air service officers having given up hope of sighting the missing plane from the air. The search has been turned over entirely to cavalry and Indian runners, it was said. The general opinion among flying officers here is that Marshall and Webber, when found, will be dead—probably from a crash in the mountains, in the volcanic rock areas of the Arizona desert, or in the tule marshes along the lower Colorado river.

SURVIVORS OF MINE DISASTER GIVE EVIDENCE

MARION, Ill., Dec. 19.—Four survivors of the massacre of June 22 at the Lester strip mine at Herrin appeared here today to testify against the five defendants accused of murder. Joseph O'Rourke, left for dead on the road near the Herrin cemetery, one of the six victims tied together with a rope around their necks, was the center of interest. The four called today were O'Rourke, Wilbur Gairus, Bernard Jones and Robert Officer. The first three were armed guards sent here by a Chicago detective agency. Officer was bookkeeper for the mine. The four witnesses are under heavy guard and apparently anxious to get away from Williamson county at the earliest possible moment.

MYSTERY IN FATAL SHOOTING OF MAN AND WOMAN

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 19.—Mrs. Ruby S. Kerenek, 22, and Corporal Gordon Hunter, 21, of Camp Travis, were found shot to death in a room of a local hotel early today. A .45 calibre automatic pistol was found by the side of Hunter. The woman died from a bullet wound in the back of the head, while Hunter was shot through the right temple. John P. Kerenek, the woman's husband, who was found asleep in the next room at the hotel by detectives, is being questioned by police. The woman and her husband were registered from Youngstown, Ohio, and have been in the city for three months. The husband told police that Hunter and his wife met last Monday for the first time.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AT INSTALLATION CEREMONIES

Hold Banquet and Services Last Night; Address by Judge B. F. Bledsoe

"My plea is for the Brotherhood of Man and in the face of the chaos that is evident to overtake all of Europe it is for America not to think that it should be America for America and that she is her brother's keeper within the boundaries of the United States, but that she should be her brother's keeper everywhere, that her brother lives wherever human hearts pulse."

This was the message given by Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, right eminent sir and past grand commander of Knights Templar of California, in his brief address last night at the close of the installation ceremonies of Glendale Commandery No. 53 in the Masonic temple.

Judge Bledsoe presided over the ceremonies as installing officer.

Banquet Is Held
Preceding the installation the knights and guests enjoyed a 6 o'clock banquet in the lower hall of the temple.

The upper hall, where the ceremonies took place was effectively decorated with tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and poinsettias, and at the hour announced for the opening of the program every chair was filled.

Impressive dignity of the order marked the reception of Right Eminent Sir Benjamin F. Bledsoe and the beginning of the ceremonial, for which each knight wore the uniform and regalia of his rank.

Eminent Sir Clem L. V. Moore served as installing marshal, and Eminent Sir Ben O. Hagen as installing prelate.

Officers Installed
Following the entrance of the officers-elect to the marching song "Onward, Christian Soldiers," Eminent Commander Sir Roy V. Hogue was installed and presented with the jewel of his office, the charter of the lodge, the Holy Bible bearing the crossed swords and other possessions belonging to his office.

This was followed by the installation (Continued on Page 7)

NEW FIRM OPENS GARAGE, MARKET IN EAGLE ROCK

Messrs. Cross, Shafer and Fisher Sell Everything In Johnson Block

Four young men, lately of Wisconsin, have opened a market, grocery store, auto accessory and garage at 802 and 804 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock. They report a very thriving business. With the exception of the garage, the different departments of the business are located in the Johnson building. The garage fronts on Townsend and is said to be one of the best equipped plants in the city.

The meat market has a model icing plant, up-to-the-minute in every respect and is in charge of Frank Fisher. Jack Shafer presides over the grocery; Fred Crow the garage, and Edward Van Coten the accessories.

The firm is building a rest room in the east end of the accessory room for the accommodation of people who have to wait at the corner for cars. Many other alterations are under way.

Two of the boys, Fred Crow and Jack Shafer, served with the forces "over there." Shafer for eighteen and Crow for sixteen months. Shafer was gassed on two different occasions. Each member of the firm was emphatic in stating that they had found the best city in California to drive their stakes.

Senators Discuss Wally Reid's Plight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Enactment of more drastic anti-narcotic laws probably will result from revelations that Wallace Reid, famous motion picture actor, was a slave of drugs. It was declared today in congressional circles.

The affliction of Reid was termed by Senator Shortridge, Republican of California, in whose state the actor became addicted to drugs, as a "danger signal" to the whole movie world of the "frightful punishment inflicted by drugs." Shortridge recommended harsher enforcement of existing laws and new federal restrictions to wipe out the drug trade throughout the nation.

The same governmental action was suggested by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the senate committee on education and labor. Borah frowned on federal censorship of the movies as a means of eradicating the evils of filmdom. He declared American motherhood fully capable of protecting children from undesirable films.

Senator Myers, Democrat of Montana, who recently attacked the Hollywood movie colony from the floor of the senate, declared the Reid case indicated the need of a "clean up of undesirable characters in the movies." A bill by Myers to provide federal censorship of films in the District of Columbia is now pending before Borah's committee.

"The Reid case will focus the attention of congress on the need of more drastic anti-drug laws," declared Shortridge. "There should also be stricter enactment of existing laws. Reid's sudden collapse is a danger signal to the rest of the movie colony and the whole nation of the frightful punishment inflicted by these deadly drugs. The moral to be gained from this case should not be an attack on the movies, but a warning to those who traffic and use deadly drugs."

Eagle Rock Locals POSSIBLY YOU

Mrs. J. R. Hodge, who has been quite ill for some time at her home at 112 Paloma, is reported much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Boulton will soon change their residence from Glendale to Eagle Rock, as their beautiful new home at 162 Ellis avenue is nearly completed. They hope to be settled in the new home by Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brayton entertained at their home on 117 West Hill avenue, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Matteson, Mrs. H. Baecht and Miss Bower of Hollywood and Miss Minnie Smith of Los Angeles, at dinner Sunday evening. Miss Bower, whose first visit this was to Eagle Rock, was more than delighted with the city and surrounding scenery; so much so that she thinks seriously of buying property and making her home in Eagle Rock.

The glad word was received by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Pargellis of 213 S. Satsuma, that their son, Stanley, who for the past three years has been a student at Oxford university, Eng., has arrived in New York, homebound. His parents are almost afraid to hope for his arrival in time for Christmas at home.

The many friends of W. I. Ong will be pleased to know that he has so much improved as to be able to spend Christmas at home with his family on 150 Paloma avenue. Mr. Ong has been in the California Lutheran Hospital for four weeks, and is expected home Wednesday.

Mrs. Garrett of the Eagle Rock Lodge will entertain a house party of six or eight guests made up of friends from Los Angeles and officers of the U. S. S. Oklahoma, over the holidays at the Lodge.

Miss Margaret Garrett was the guest over Sunday of friends in Los Angeles.

Mrs. B. F. Garrett was a dinner guest of her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nixon in Hollywood Sunday.

Dr. B. S. Dawson returned to the Eagle Rock Lodge Saturday, after six or eight days spent in San Diego.

E. B. Olson, recently of Santa Barbara, will soon be established in business in Eagle Rock. Mr. Olson was in the city Monday and rented a cottage at the corner of Linden Way and Park avenue. He will return with his family not later than the middle of the week.

The January meeting of the Sunset Civic club will be held on the third Tuesday of January. No meetings were held the latter part of December because of the holidays.

Rev. F. E. Knopf, formerly pastor of the Congregational church, has returned to Eagle Rock to reside, having purchased a home on Howard Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bell and Scott Bell, well-known and popular residents of Eagle Rock, left for the southern states Saturday on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Occidental college closed Friday afternoon last for the Christmas holidays. It will reopen January 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cook, recent arrivals from Anacortes, Wash., were in Eagle Rock yesterday, dividing their time visiting with friends and relatives in Glendale and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Al Schluter here. Dr. and Mrs. Cook were looking over the property situation which here with a view to locating permanently, so favorably impressed were they with Eagle Rock.

Dr. Kyle Palmer of 246 North Satsuma avenue returned yesterday from Sacramento, where he had been since Friday on a business mission. Mrs. Palmer and children spent the time of his absence in Long Beach with Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Ethel Williams, a former resident of Eagle Rock.

The Junior Music club held the last practice before the cantata at the church Saturday evening.

Thomas L. Clancy has purchased the Oakland Food Shop grocery at the corner of South Central and Mariposa avenues, of W. O. Campbell, the owner of the block. Mr. Campbell will take a much needed rest.

BUSY SESSION IS HELD BY EAGLE ROCK BOARD

Citizens Presented Petitions Asking That City Join To Los Angeles

The board of trustees of Eagle Rock had an unusually busy session last night. Many subjects of interest were taken up for discussion.

The first act of the board was regarding the special bond election of December 12. The board then took up the petitions presented by citizens of Eagle Rock asking that this city be annexed to Los Angeles.

Steve Kanganian, representing the City Rubbish company of Glendale, appeared before the board and stated that he had been sick, therefore had not been able to make the usual collections of rubbish. In case the rubbish company is not able to keep up with its contract, the city will put men and teams of the city on the work, the board decided.

Chemist Osborn submitted bacteriological reports on the condition of the Eagle Rock avenue, Ridgeway 1, 3 and 5, and Sycamore city wells. According to the reports Ridgeway 1, Park avenue and Sycamore wells have water fit for domestic use. Water from the other two are unfit for such purposes. These have not been in use for some time.

Thirty-nine signatures were attached to a petition protesting the opening of the alley north of Sycamore and extending from the east line of tract 5289.

The reasons given were that there was no need for opening the alley; that it would create an unsanitary condition; would depreciate the value of the property contiguous, and would be no benefit except to certain real estate firms.

The petition was ordered filed, but will come up for hearing on January 3, 1923.

Ministers Ask for Hollywood Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—The truth about Hollywood—whether the motion picture colony there is drug-ridden—must come out as an aftermath of the illness of Wallace Reid, world-famous motion picture star, who is fighting for his life at a Hollywood sanitarium with a severe case of influenza, admitted to be the direct result of his curing himself of the habit of using narcotics and over-indulgence in alcoholic liquors.

The Methodist preachers of Southern California today sent a plea to the Los Angeles city council asking that conditions in the film capital be investigated. If the reports that Hollywood is a drug center prove true, some adequate remedy is asked, according to the petition.

NEW DEPARTMENT STORE PLANNED FOR EAGLE ROCK

Jack Lunney, of L. A., Will Open Business About January 15

W. A. Feaster has leased what was formerly the city hall building at 113 South Central avenue, Eagle Rock, to Jack Lunney of Los Angeles, who will shortly put in a stock of dry goods, notions, gents' furnishings and shoes.

Workmen have been busily engaged for the past few days making alterations and otherwise getting the premises ready for the new store, which is expected to be opened before the middle of January.

Mr. Lunney and family are now in Eagle Rock. He has been superintending the placing of the shelving.

ELEVEN PETITIONS ON ANNEXATION SUBMITTED

Eagle Rock City Trustees Asked to Call Election On Proposition

Eleven petitions asking an election on the question of annexation to Los Angeles, having a total of 369 names were presented to the board of trustees of the City of Eagle Rock at its Monday night session, December 19.

The petitioners asked that the city officials take action on the matter at its earliest convenience and call an election to put the question before the property owners as soon as the legal requirements could be met with.

WORK ON STATION FOR INTERURBAN LINE RUSHED

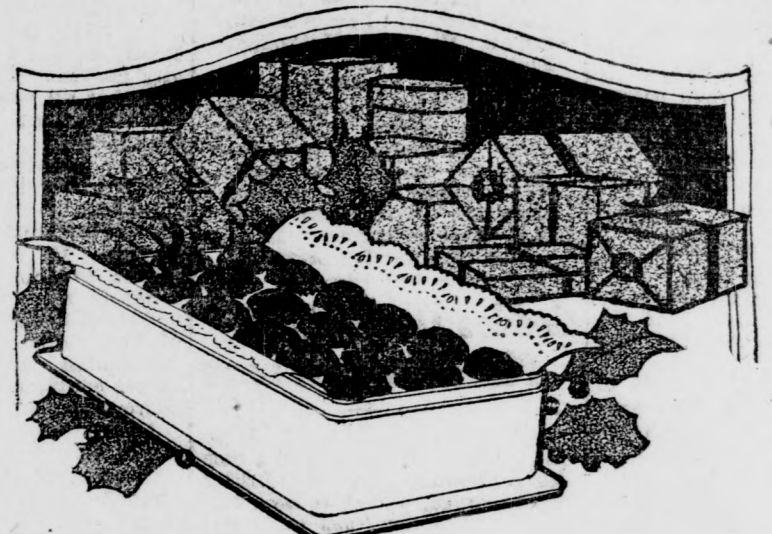

New Structure for Eagle Rock (Will Cost $3000; Foundation Being Laid)

Foundations are laid and the work of erecting the Glendale and Montrose waiting station at 110 West Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, is progressing rapidly.

The building will cost $3000, according to the permit issued by the city clerk's office a few days ago. It was granted to J. Harold Weller, a representative of the company. Other improvements are being made, also.

This will be another added improvement to the down town section and a convenience the public has waited patiently for during the past several months.

EDUCATION COST TOO HIGH, CLAIM

J. C. Sherer Gives His Views
On Growing Expenses
In School System

Editor The Evening News—The advisory committee of citizens appointed to investigate school requirements in the way of buildings has made its report, recommending an expenditure of over half a million dollars. The bonding capacity of the school district is about $450,000 and the committee has been requested to "trim down" the estimate. The thought may arise in the mind of some inquiring taxpayer, where should we have been, had we voted that $400,000 which we were assured a few weeks ago was NECESSARY for additional high school buildings; about two thirds of which sum would have fallen on the Glendale Cammar School district. We might have had a hundred thousand or so left to our credit to meet this need of a half million. The Los Angeles County Grand Jury in its report just rendered calls attention to the fact that within five years just passed, school expenditures have increased six hundred per cent, although attendance has increased only sixty per cent.

No Recommendations
The Grand Jury makes no recommendation, evidently because the figures in themselves are explanatory, for, if they mean anything at all, they cry aloud so that all can hear, "MONEY IS BEING WASTED IN THE NAME OF EDUCATION, AND IT IS TIME TO ABOUT-FACE." Two of the above named facts are to some extent hopeful; they should make the unbiased citizen thankful for the fifteen per cent limit in the first place, and in the second, that a school official recognizes the possibility of "trimming down." All the trimming heretofore for a few years past has been of the taxpayer. The fault can not be laid upon the school officials entirely; the responsibility is very largely with local pride which demands school buildings pleasing to the eye, and an asset to the realty in the neighborhood. An example proving this assertion, is the school building on Broadway, which cost something in the neighborhood of $65,000 and is already over-crowded because it accommodates no more pupils than did the building which it superseded. Is the present advisory committee following in the footsteps of the former committee which recommended this type of building? But the school authorities are in general responsible for the system which is expanding all the time and with every expansion becomes less efficient.

Where It Starts
By expansion the writer means, for example, the constant efforts of high schools to become universities, adding something every year to the curriculum, under the fond delusion that by so doing they are becoming more useful. The trouble begins at Sacramento and extends downward. The kindergarten takes babies from the home at one end, and by extending the age limit of compulsory education, encroaches upon the limits of manhood and womanhood at the other. The law which prevents the grammar school pupil from studying at home, seems to be designed solely for the purpose of weakening home influence and giving to the state a tighter hold upon the children, while the teaching of adults in night schools at the public expense is another departure from the proper and original scope of the public school.

From a statement issued by Jonathan Dodge while a supervisor of the county two years ago, it is learned that the average cost per head for a student in the High school for one year was $385.50 in Los Angeles county; while the average for the grammar school student was $165. Assuming that the object of public school education is to make better citizens, will anyone assert that for this purpose the High school is worth over twice as much as the grammar school?

It can readily be seen that some radical change must be made in our system of education, which seems to be based upon the idea that if we spend sufficient money in the name of education we shall thereby be performing our duty regardless of results to the taxpayer or to the youth of the state. In the hope that our advisory committee may be successful in "trimming down," even though they recommend the cutting off of somebody's salary for teaching something not absolutely necessary to good citizenship.

J. C. SHERER.

Number of People Spend Sunday In Visiting;
Notes, Brief News Mentions of Live Section

A bob-cat that is as tame as a kitten was observed—at a respectful distance—by J. C. Middlecuff of 1118 South San Fernando road and "Bill" Curry of 420 Magnolia court who went hunting Sunday at Buena Vista lake—and returned with two ducks.
"Heck," says Jake, upon his return, "do you think I'd lie for two ducks?"

According to Mr. Middlecuff there were plenty of ducks in the vicinity but more hunters, and the ducks saw the hunters first and flew high, high over their heads. He says it looks as though ducks are going to be high for Christmas.

"Business is hitting on all four," yesterday remarked F. M. Fry, proprietor of the new vulcanizing shop at 1414 South San Fernando road.

J. A. Malch, proprietor of the blacksmith shop at 413 West Los Feliz road, was called to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon on business.

Mud may be all right, according to Ed Gabel, one of Southern Glendale's barbers, but he doesn't believe that it was ever intended as a covering for automobile wheels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gabel, 1412 1/2 South San Fernando road, their two children, Ed and Russell, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schuet and daughter, Bertha, motored from Long Beach to Redondo Sunday. They found that last summer's dust had changed to mud.

C. M. Meach of 816 Southern Glendale avenue was able to be back at work at the Los Feliz Garage, 410 West Los Feliz road, yesterday after a day's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ostrander of 202 East Garfield avenue are looking forward to spending the holidays with relatives in Lindsey. S. W. Brown, proprietor of the S. W. Brown Beverage company at 463 West Los Feliz road, was in Hollywood yesterday afternoon.

Southern Glendale's subpostal station at 1502 South San Fernando road is being kept busy lately, according to H. R. Owen, Miss Harriet Meyers is giving her entire attention to it this week. She is being assisted by Arthur Owen.

Orange and walnut crops look exceptionally good this season, according to Mr. and Mrs. Gabe W. Wiley of 1510 South San Fernando road and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook of 1531 South Central avenue who motored through the orchards in the vicinity of Covina Sunday.

Speaking about the oranges Mr. Cook stated that they looked exceptionally fine. He called attention to the fact that the crop will be excellent.

"Walnuts will run about a ton and a half to the acre," he remarked.

Mrs. Lillian Woodside of Los Angeles was entertained Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Barrett at 319 El Bonito avenue.

"We are going to push the sale of property south of the railroad track," yesterday remarked D. L. Terry at 1430 South San Fernando road, in the office of H. L. Miller company.

"We are getting lots of listings over there," he continued. I may be over-enthusiastic, but I believe a person could buy any of that property either for a home or for an investment and make money."

The Community Savings & Commercial bank, 1726 South San Fernando road was a month old yesterday, said Cashier H. J. Wellman.

The shirt factory at 1725 South Brand boulevard has received word that its manager, George B. Karr of 1150 North Louise street, is on his way home from Parsons, Kansas.

J. H. Ambrosch, proprietor of the Glendale Monument Works at 1727 South Brand boulevard, asserted yesterday that he had been awaiting over a month for a shipment of granite from Minnesota. He does not believe that the delay is due so much to poor railway freight service as to inclement weather.

The Wilson-Bell Hardware company store at 1738 South San Fernando road is attracting much attention in Southern Glendale because of its window displays in which J. M. Wilson takes especial pride.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McLean of 1526 South San Fernando road spent Sunday afternoon in Arcadia and the evening in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Danner of 1631 Gardena avenue had for dinner guests Sunday several automobile loads of friends from San Pedro including Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Martin, Lyle, Kenneth and Bynner Martin, Bill Dressler, Miss Katherine Privett, Miss Dorothy Ingmire and William E. Danner.

TELLS PLAN FOR POSTAL SERVICE

Postmaster Jackson Gives

Of Improvements

a resolution and forwarded to the postmaster general. The motion was seconded by the entire organization.

Annexation Menace
In concluding his talk, Captain Jackson emphasized to his listeners that if ever Glendale annexed to Los Angeles they would know what to expect insofar as postal service is concerned.

"We at least can deal direct with Washington now," he said, "but if Glendale ever annexes to Los Angeles business interests and the general public will transact their service applications through the Los Angeles department."

The question of employing clerks and facilities for the handling of local mail would also be furnished by Los Angeles, were Glendale a part of that city, he said. As equipped at present, Captain Jackson stated that the Glendale postoffice conducts its own school for postal clerks, and that a number of well trained clerks are available in this city at all times.

Judge Owen C. Emery, president of the Credit Men's Association, presided at the meeting, which was held in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce.

Business Women to Hold Kiddies' Party

Pinafores and sunbonnets, bobbed hair and be-ribboned "pig-tails" are going to be the properties of disguise used by the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club members, when they meet tonight at the clubhouse on South Maryland avenue, for their Christmas "kid" party.

Each "child" attending the party is asked to bring two gifts, one for the clubhouse pantry and another to send to the little patients at the Children's Hospital in Los Angeles.

Work Resumed on Community Church

Work on the Lankershim Community church building, which was halted some time ago because of lack of funds, will be started immediately, according to an announcement just made.

Erection of the church was begun in March 1921. When partly finished work was discontinued owing to lack of funds to meet financial obligations.

The present move to complete the structure was started by the citizens of Lankershim. A public collection taken last week netted more than $18,000.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS

Curls—As a simple method of arranging the hair is suitable to you there should be no reason for changing it since girls of 15 years do not effect elaborate hair dressing. Try parting the hair on the side for a change. It is also one of the new ideas in hair arrangement for any age.

Esther—Liquid powders are very drying to the skin so no one with this tendency should use them regularly.

There is always some weight lost during the sweating period of a Turkish bath; but it is not apt to be lasting and the body regains it quickly. The most reliable method of reducing is wrought through diet. If you are in need of such directions I shall be glad to mail them to you on receipt of a S. A. C.

Bertha W.—As frowning has become a habit with you the only way to correct the lines across your forehead is to break yourself of the frowning habit. A great help in doing this is to place a small piece of court plaster over the lines—after you have first smoothed them out and massaged a nourishing cream into them. You cannot frown then without the plaster causing a little tug, and it is this slight reminder which very often teaches you to stop the frowning.

Charlotte Ellen—Constant wearing of low shoes will not enlarge the ankles. If it has any effect whatever it would be to make them more supple, and, therefore, more slender. Low shoes are so much in favor because of the freedom in motion that they continue in style for both winter and summer.

Louise—When peroxide is used for bleaching freckles it should not be diluted. Do not get it near the lashes or brows when using on the face as these will also be bleached.

Vera—After the skin has been allowed to get flabby it will take some time to make it firm. Usually such a condition comes from impaired health. The first thing to do then is to build up the system, after which the skin will improve very fast under astringent treatments.

If you use hot water on the face always rinse with cool water, then cold water and finally very cold water or an ice rub. The heat relaxes the skin and would increase the flabbiness. This condition is overcome, however, when you use the ice or cold water which closes the pores and tones the skin, making it firm.

John T.—Ingrowing hairs usually come from shaving too closely. It will benefit you to try a different method of shaving for a time.

Tomorrow—Do You Look Healthy?

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Practical Housekeeping

By Florence Austin Chase

HOLIDAY GOODIES

At holiday time, especially, every housewife likes to have a variety of small cakes, cookies and other goodies so that she may be able to offer hospitality to friends who drop in. A cup of delicious tea with wafers, dainty cookies or small cakes; a cup of steaming coffee with doughnuts, spice cake or cookies, or a cup of hot chocolate with any of the small cakes or cookies are always welcome refreshments on a cold day. If these cakes and cookies are served on pretty plates or in pretty dolly-lined baskets decorated with holly or ground pine it will add to their attractiveness. Bonbons, stuffed fruit, candied orange peel, and the like, will add a pleasing touch to emergency refreshments.

I have selected a few goodies which have proved very popular in my own household and I am giving the recipes for them, in the hope that they will prove as popular in the households of the readers of this page.

Sweet Surprise—Remove the stones from dates and prunes, taking an even number of both, with in each date place a candied cherry. Fit the filled date with a prune and coat the stuffed prune with melted fondant, into which some chopped nuts have been stirred. Set on oiled paper to dry.

Pratines—Put two cups of sugar, one-half cup of cream and one-half cup of maple syrup in a saucepan and set it over a rather brisk fire, stirring until sugar dissolves, then boil, without stirring, until it will form a soft ball when dropped into ice water. Beat the white of one egg, and pour the syrup in a fine stream into it. Add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and beat until creamy. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto oil paper or greased pans.

Candied Orange Straws—Wipe the outside of four oranges, and remove the peel in quarters, from stem to blossom and. Cover with cold water and let simmer until soft. Drain, scrape off the white portion, and cut the yellow portion in thin strips lengthwise, using scissors. Make a syrup of one cupful of granulated sugar and one-half cupful of water. When it spins a thread, or registers 238 on the candy thermometer, add the orange strips and let boil five minutes. Drain and roll in fine granulated sugar.

Nut Macaroons—Beat the white of one egg until light and add one cupful of brown sugar, beating thoroughly. Fold in one cupful of chopped pecan nut meats and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Drop from tip of teaspoon, one inch apart, and on an oiled sheet, and garnish with a piece of candied cherry and small strip of angelica. Bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Christmas Nuts—Beat two eggs and one cupful of granulated sugar together until very light. Add one-half cupful of blanched and shredded almonds, one-half cupful of shredded candied citron, two cups of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful each of ground cloves, mace and nutmeg, and then add one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind. Mix well together and chill. Butter the hands and shape in tiny balls, the size of a hickory nut; place on an oiled baking sheet, one inch apart, and bake to a light brown in a moderate oven. These are better if made two and three weeks before using.

Hermits—Cream two-thirds of a cupful of butter or butter substitute, while gradually adding one and one-half cups of sugar, then add three eggs well beaten, and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Sift three cups of flour with one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Sift three cups of flour with one teaspoonful each of baking powder, cinnamon and cloves, and one-half teaspoonful of ginger, then stir in one and one-half cups of raisins and English walnuts, and add to the first mixture. Mix all together and drop from tip of spoon on a greased pan. Bake in a moderate oven.

Diet and Health

COMMON COLDS—NO. II

I left you yesterday in bed with a hot water bottle at your feet and one at the chilly place between your shoulder blades and perhaps one to keep your hands warm. I forgot to tell you that you might have had a good hot sweating bath before you took to your bed.

Now a little more on the local treatment on the nose and throat. I told you about the medicated oil swabbing or spray. Sometimes a hot gargling and washing the nose with a hot solution made from one pint of water, four tablespoonfuls bicarbonate of soda with twenty drops of the essence of peppermint in it, is helpful. Follow this with the oil.

Sadler recommends a massage of the nose and face for fifteen to twenty minutes. He also speaks of the electrical vibratory machines. These, of course, bring fresh blood to the part and send the stagnating blood onward. The incandescent electric light heat also has the same effect. Protect the eyes.

Don't be afraid of coddling yourself now. Maybe you need a little coddling. One of the chief things to do is to keep hot. Drink a lot of hot lemonade or other fruit drinks. You won't want very much to eat but try to eat your maintenance number of calories. Probably from 1800 to 2000 calories.

Do not include meats, egg whites, fish, fowl or cheese. Eat very little fat. These are among the acid-forming foods and it may be possible that you have been having too many of them and have reduced the normal alkalinity of the blood. Eat plenty of the green leaf vegetables and fruits. You can have some toast or cereal gruels also.

It is a wonderful time to reduce because you will have no appetite, but it has been my experience that during an acute cold it is not wise.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

AT THE TELLER'S WINDOW

One morning recently I stepped into the branch office of a trust company in the residence district of a large city at about 10 o'clock. At the deposit window there was no one. The only activity was at the paying teller—the window of the paying teller. A line of smartly dressed women, constantly replenished by new arrivals, stood in front of this window, handing out checks to him to be cashed and stuffing the fascinating little bundles of crisp bills that he handed over to them into silver or beaded bags. This done, they turned toward the swinging door, giving swift (or not so swift) glances into a tactfully placed long mirror, passed out on the sidewalk and either climbed into waiting motors or walked smartly off, a few back toward the district of lovely homes from which they came, but many more toward the district of lovely shops.

The Women Who Spend

Is there any class in the world more favored of fortune than that of the American woman whose successful husband loves to wear as a badge of his own success her freedom from care and her command of luxury? That is, if one's idea of being favored of fortune is to get more than one gives. And that does seem to be the commonest, if not the truest, idea.

But, though with characteristic self-assurance they have taken about half my space, the women who spend were not what I started to write about.

What struck me most forcibly, as I watched those women march up to the payer's window and in exchange for bits of paper, on which they had written their names, receive packages of bills which in turn were probably to be converted into furs and silken lingerie and chocolate sundae and amber beads and oriental rugs and babies, hand snocked dresses and a new collar for the chow, was the fascinating and appalling intricacy of our civilization.

Labor For Labor

Each piece of paper probably represented a certain amount of that woman's husband's labor (of course it may have been her father's or her grandfather's) so many hours of his time. Somehow or other the value of that labor to the community has been judged and, through the medium of dollars and cents, he has been made able to exchange it for the labor of other men and women, though perhaps that other labor was performed 5,000 miles away. And then to make the system even more marvelous, checks take the place of dollars and cents and just by writing one's name on a piece of paper one can effect this exchange of one's time and labor for the time and labor of a French girl embroidering lingerie in a convent, or an Oriental (perhaps dead a hundred years) who once made rugs.

As Wonderful As Wireless

Of all the wonders of modern civilization, the telephone, the wireless, the electric light, the aeroplane, the submarine, the water supplies, is there any one more marvelous than this vast system of exchange that we all take so utterly for granted.

And does anything make one realize more fully the danger of tampering too hastily with this infinitely intricate, infinitely delicate mechanism.

Tomorrow—Try It.

L. A. District Sets Income Tax Record

National records for income tax collections were smashed by the Los Angeles district when Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell announced today that receipts from the December drive for the payment of the fourth and final installment would amount to $6,428,261.81.

While the decrease in income tax collections for the country as a whole has been 30 per cent, the Los Angeles district's shrinkage in December income tax receipts was only 11 per cent which is less than the reductions in tax provided for by the new revenue act.

For the calendar year ending December 31, the income tax receipts will amount to $33,717,126.11 as against $35,821,215 reported for the last fiscal year.

This indicates a Los Angeles decrease of only 5.8 per cent as compared with a decrease of 30 per cent in the income tax collections of the country as a whole and places Los Angeles in an impragnable position as the leader of the sixty-four internal revenue districts in the United States.

Collector Goodcell pointed out that the remarkable showing made by this district was due to a substantial and steady increase in all classes of business activity and to the steady growth of a desirable population. As evidence of the growth of the southern California district he said that 47926 more income tax returns were filed in 1922 than in 1921.

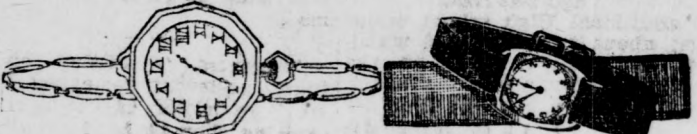

This alone calls for an increase in population of 330,000 applying a ratio of 8, as one out of every eight persons in the district filed an income tax return in 1921.

The MUCKER

The latter was short and slender. The larger man looked as though he might have eaten him at a single mouthful; but the camper did not flinch.

"You pain me," he said. "You induce within me a severe and highly localized pain, and furthermore I don't like your whiskers."

With which apparently irrelevant remark he seized the matted beard of the larger tramp and struck the fellow a quick, sharp blow in the face. Instantly the fellow's companion was upon him; but the camper retained his death grip upon the beard of the now yelling bully and continued to rain blow after blow upon hear and face.

Billy Byrne was an interested spectator. He enjoyed a good fight as he enjoyed little else; but presently when the first tramp succeeded in tangling his legs about the legs of his chastiser and dragging him to the ground, and the second tramp seized a heavy stick and ran forward to dash the man's brains out, Billy thought it time to interfere.

Stepping forward he called aloud as he came: "Cut it out, boys! You can't pull off any rough stuff like that with this here sweet singer. Can it! Can it!"

As the second tramp raised his stick to strike the now prostrate camper.

As he spoke Billy Byrne broke into a run, and as the stick fell he reached the man's side and swung a blow to the tramp's jaw that sent the fellow spinning backward to the river's brim, where he tottered drunkenly for a moment and then plunged backward into the shallow water.

Then Billy seized the other attacker by the shoulder and dragged him to his feet.

"Do you want some, too, you big stiff?" he inquired.

The man spluttered and tried to break away, striking at Billy as he did so; but a sudden punch, such a punch as Billy Byrne had once handed the surprised Harlem Hurricane, removed from the mind of the tramp the last vestige of any thought he might have harbored to do the newcomer bodily injury, and with it removed all else from the man's mind, temporarily.

As the fellow slumped, unconscious, to the ground, the camper rose to his feet.

"Some wallop you have concealed in your sleeve, my friend," he said, "place it there!" and he extended a slender, shapely hand. Billy took it and shook it.

"It don't get under the ribs like those verses of yours, ho," he returned.

"It seems to have insinuated itself beneath this guy's thick skull," replied the poetical one, "and it's a cinch my verses, nor any other would ever get there."

Daily NewsLetter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—William G. Cayce, correspondent at Los Angeles, writes of the increasing traffic problem in the Southern California metropolis.

TOMORROW—Douglas G. Tinsley, Kansas City correspondent, observes that banditry is assuming alarming proportions in the Missouri city and surrounding territory.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—

With Los Angeles expected to have a population by 1930 of a million and a half inhabitants, the great question confronting local officials is "what about the traffic?"

Already the automobile as well as the pedestrian traffic is a menacing problem. Various "systems" have been given a thorough trial, but they do not seem to help the situation. Downtown automobile traffic moves from every corner every forty seconds for that period of time, and though it is rapidly moving faster enough, it makes little headway. Oftentimes the congestion of one block laps over into the next block and hence a double "tie-up" occurs on two intersecting streets. Autoists have a habit of "lapping over" and making a double line, which blocks street cars and causes further delay.

The downtown "no-parking" law, in effect between the hours of 4 and 6:15 p. m., has made little progress toward lessening the problem, as traffic is naturally increased at that time of afternoon. The same law also has brought forth a vigorous complaint from merchants, who claim they might as well close their doors while the law is in effect, as their customers can't leave a machine to make their purchases.

Many automobile owners refuse to bring their machines downtown at all because of the heavy traffic, as they can reach their destination quicker by street car, or even by walking. The correspondent recently experienced a delay of thirty-five minutes in passing through Los Angeles' famous Third street tunnel, which is approximately 300 yards long.

At present the automobile traffic moves on a double signal from a semaphore and a traffic officer. Automobile accidents were never before on such an increase in Los Angeles as they are today. Last year's record already has been smashed by several thousand and the year is not over. Authorities refuse to hazard a prediction as to how many will occur before the year is gone.

In an effort to check accidents and arrest violators of the automobile laws, Chief of Police Oaks was recently granted, at his own request, funds for 100 new traffic officers, who will do nothing but keep an eagle eye open for those disrespectful to automobile laws. Jail sentences, and not mere fines, have been found by police judges to be the best remedy for speeders.

Statistics show that automobile sales in Los Angeles have set a record and that the sale of machines is on the rise each day. The same figures show that, compared with the population, there is an automobile in and around Los Angeles for every four inhabitants.

Elevated railways and subways have been suggested as the only means of meeting the problem, but so far nothing has been done about it.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS TREE.

"Well, it is almost time," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily one day.

"Time for what?" the bunny rabbit gentleman wanted to know.

"Is it time for the stockings, or do you mean time for the Fuzzy Fox or the Woozie Wolf to come around and nibble my ears?"

"Not that last, I hope!" exclaimed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I mean it is time you brought in the Christmas tree, that is, if we are to have one this holiday season."

"Of course we'll have a Christmas tree!" cried Uncle Wiggily with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "It wouldn't be Christmas without a Santa Claus tree. And we'll hang up our stockings, also."

"That will be nice!" said Nurse Jane. And then she helped Uncle Wiggily put on his mittens as he went forth to find a Christmas tree.

Just about this time the Fuzzy Fox slunk out of his den, looked around on the ground, covered with snow, and the Fox said to himself:

"This ought to be a good day to catch Uncle Wiggily. I can look in the snow and tell by his paw marks which way he is traveling. Then I can follow him and nibble his ears. I'll do it!"

Out of his den slunk the Fuzzy Fox, his big dusting brush of a tail dragging after him in the snow. On and on went the Fuzzy Fox.

"I hope I don't meet the Woozie Wolf," the Fox thought, "for the Wolf would want some ear-nibbles for himself, and there will be hardly enough for me."

Not knowing anything about the Fox who was hunting him, Uncle Wiggily hopped on over the fields and through the woods until he came to a place where the Christmas trees grew.

"There is one just about the right size," thought the bunny gentleman, as he saw a pretty evergreen tree. "I'll gnaw it down and drag it over the snow like a sled. It won't be very hard to pull with snow on the ground."

Uncle Wiggily needed no axe to cut down the Christmas tree, he thought. His teeth were sharp and he belonged to the family of rodents, or gnawing animals. And so, taking off his tall silk hat, that it would not be damaged, Uncle Wiggily started to cut through the trunk of the tree near the ground.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily! What are you doing?" suddenly asked a voice.

"No, children, don't be afraid. It wasn't the Fuzzy Fox, not just yet. He'll come along shortly though. This time it was Tootle Flat Tail, the beaver boy."

"What are you doing, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the beaver chap.

"Well," slowly answered the bunny rabbit, "I thought I was cutting down a Christmas tree, but I don't seem to be doing it very fast. I guess I must be getting old and my teeth are getting dull."

"No, it isn't that, Uncle Wiggily," said Tootle. "But that is hard wood to gnaw through. We beavers have very good and sharp teeth for that work. I'll gnaw the tree down for you. And you will stand to one side, Uncle Wiggily, for the tree might fall on you."

So Uncle Wiggily stood to one side, and Tootle, going behind the tree trunk, out of sight, began to gnaw and gnaw and gnaw through the wood.

Just then along came the Fuzzy Fox. The Fox saw Uncle Wiggily sitting down in the snow, waiting for the Christmas tree to fall when Tootle should have gnawed it almost through.

"Ah, ha!" snickered the Fox. "This is going to be easier than I thought. I'll slip up there and nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears before he knows it."

Up sneaked the Fox, closer and closer to Uncle Wiggily.

Gnawing, gnawing, gnawing with his four big teeth, Tootle went farther and farther through the tree. Suddenly it began to topple over to one side.

"Look out, Uncle Wiggily!" shouted the beaver boy, springing to one side. "She's going to fall."

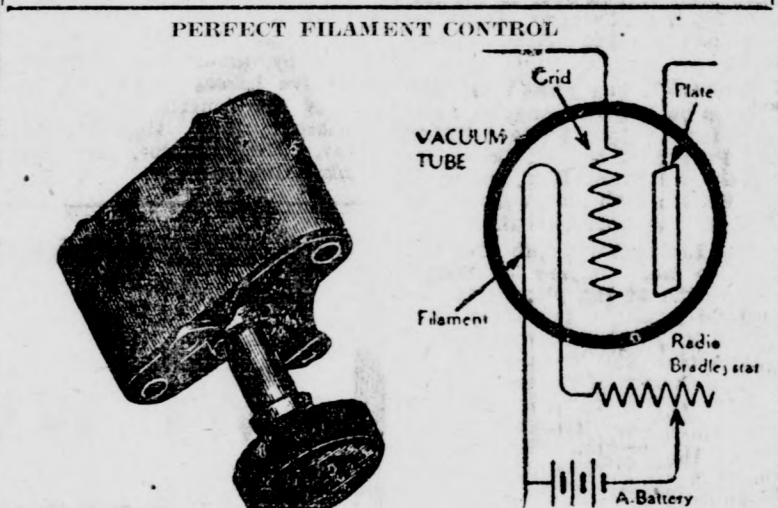

Down fell the tree. But the Fox didn't know what was going to happen, so he didn't run. He was caught under the tree, and the branches pounded him on his ribs, making a hollow sound like a drum. And the Fox howled "Wow!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Tootle. "We fooled him that time!"

"Yes, indeed," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. And the Fox was so sore and lame that he couldn't get

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

Detector and amplifier vacuum tubes work at highest efficiency when their filaments are at precisely the correct temperature. If the filament temperature is just a trifle above this point the effect of the tube is greatly affected and reduced.

It is essential that your radio equipment be provided with efficient means of vacuum filament control.

The illustration shows a very reliable graphite compression rheostat that is something new in its line. It consists of a column of specifically treated graphite disks through which the current flows.

Pressure is applied to the graphite column with a screw, which varies the resistance very finely without steps and jumps usually found in wire wound resistances.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

HISTORY OF RADIO

Wireless telegraphy had now reached a stage when its study attracted the brightest minds of the scientifically thinking world.

All the earlier equipments had employed as a primary source of energy induction coils, with various means of breaking the direct current. Owing to mechanical difficulties these "make and break" devices were necessarily slow in action, with the resultant low spark frequency. The manipulation of these early equipments required considerable skill on the part of the pioneer operators to maintain a "spark". Indeed, the old time radio telegrapher in dispatching a batch of business necessarily would conduct a series of experiments during his efforts.

These induction coil sets gradually gave way to "power" sets; in other words, alternating current supplied by motor generators supplied the power source. The usual commercial frequency of sixty cycles was first employed. While the practical operation of radio apparatus was immeasurably improved, the low spark frequency objection still remained.

Fessenden appears to be the first radio engineer to suggest a remedy for low spark frequencies, and apparatus known by his name appeared which gave forth a high musical note and did much to overcome "static" or "atmospherics," which has been and continues to be the bugbear or hoodoo of radio.

A German system known as "Telefunken" also utilized a high frequency alternator to produce the high musical note.

Honolulu Police to Get Gun Practice

HONOLULU—Sheriff Rose of Honolulu is a firm believer in preparedness, especially since he returned from the recent annual convention of police chiefs in San Francisco.

The sheriff is not anticipating stagecoach bandits into Honolulu, but he is impressed with the necessity of teaching the young police how to shoot, just "in case."

Annual practice meets for the display of shooting talent are being held all over the mainland, argues Sheriff Rose, and why not in Honolulu? Hereafter the Honolulu guardians of the law will be taught that a revolver has other uses than filling up a hip pocket.

Moreover, personal taste in fancy revolvers of the pearl-handled and baby Colt variety will be curtailed, and a standardization of police firearms to be carried by the Honolulu police will be made.

The first practice shooting will begin soon.

TO Abolish Gas!
There can be no peace on earth for a vast multitude of people until they get rid of the evil effects of gas in the stomach and bowels.
Those distressing pains around your heart may be due to gas pressure. That anxious, nervous feeling, often accompanied by heart palpitation, difficult breathing or a suffocating sensation, can usually be traced to the same source.
To secure permanent relief you must abolish gas—prevent its formation. This may be done by taking Baalmann's Gas Tablets, which act directly upon the set of nerves controlling the digestive function and quickly assist in removing the cause of the trouble.
Baalmann's Gas Tablets are perfectly harmless, but wonderfully effective. The first dose will prove their exceptional merit. Get a package today and enjoy some real relief.
Genuine Baalmann's Gas Tablets come only in the yellow package. Price $1. Sold by Roberts &
Echols, J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

Why That Lame Back?
That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Los Angeles resident's example.
Mrs. M. T. Negley, 1743 East
Jefferson street, Los Angeles,
Calif., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and consider them a good remedy. My kidneys were weak and I had backaches. My kidneys acted irregularly and annoyed me constantly. I was so run down it was hard for me to do my housework. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They were just what I needed and soon had my kidneys in good shape. My kidneys did not trouble me and my back was strengthened."

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The Polo grounds and not the Yankee stadium, will play host during 1923 to the majority of the big football games with which New York is favored annually, if you care to accept the verdict of Jim Tierney, James is the smooth, plausible gentleman who sits in the office, labelled secretary, at the headquarters of the New York Giants and is not inclined to give either himself or his employers the worst of it.

However, in view of the seemingly list of prospective games he outlined, it would appear the Yankees will be forced to institute a campaign of competitive throat-cutting or be satisfied with the dregs.

According to James, the same teams that appeared at the Polo grounds in 1922 have asked for return engagements and are not altogether certain of being obliged, owing to the fact that Notre Dame, Centre college and other attractive entries are seeking dates with the Giant management. There seems to be somewhat of a rumor afloat that Notre Dame and the Army, far from severing relations, are endeavoring to have their attraction transferred from West Point to the Polo grounds as a matter of financial expediency.

Centre's prospective opponent, if any, is not mentioned. The chances are good, indeed, that Centre would prefer to make its New York debut at the Yankee stadium, seating 78,000, rather than at the Polo grounds which, even when enlarged, will not exceed a capacity of 55,000.

The Yankee officials, in any case, are ominously quiet about their schedule of football games.

HAS RUN HIS LAST RACE

By Wood Cowan

Morvich, the undefeated champion two-year-old of 1921, winner of $115,234 and the Kentucky Derby of 1922, will never race again.

Rising from a selling plater by twelve straight victories to the heights of racing fame, Morvich faded like a morning glory—defeated ten lengths by a bunch of second-raters.

From the time he won the American classic he was beaten in every race in which he started. Whether the Derby broke him, or—as every bookie on the turf has always contended—Morvich was an overrated horse, racing better than he could stand up under, remains an unsolved problem.

Morvich first broke into fame by winning a selling sweepstakes at Jamaica by fifteen lengths at 50 to 1.

Fred Burlew bought him and later, after the colt had won another victory, sold a half interest to Benjamin Block. It was after Morvich's sixth victory that his owners entered him in a big event, the U. S. Hotel Stakes at Saratoga. He took such fine runners as Kai-Sang, Oil Man, Pegasus and Sir Huga and sprinted them into the earth, and in his next race, The Saratoga Special, beat Kai-Sang by two lengths. Then on a heavy track he lengthened his string of victories by winning the Hopeful and the Eastern Shore, defeating Whitney's great colt Whiskaway, who was later to kick dust in Morvich's eyes and prove him an also-ran.

The beginning of the 1922 season found Morvich hailed as a second Man o'War. Undefeated and having taken the best of the youngsters into camp, he was headed for the Derby. The manner in which he won that event showed that he could have beaten any horse that might have been sent against him that day, for he was trained to run the race of his life. His dizzy speed had been kept on razor edge by a most unusual system of training. Burlew, frankly doubtful of Morvich's staying qualities, had kept his speed sharpened by a series of short workouts, none over seven furlongs, banking everything on that speed to carry Morvich through to win the one prize that Block coveted more than any other.

The strategy was successful. Morvich's speed had been conserved to the utmost and he held his place all the way in front of the field under restraint. Time and again he was challenged, only to kill off one competitor after another and win almost in a gallop.

That was Morvich's last great performance. In his next race, The Carlton Stakes, he suffered his first defeat, bowing to Whiskaway whom he had twice beaten. Then the Whitney colt again defeated him a short two weeks later in the Kentucky Special at Latonia.

Next Surf Rider took him into camp at six furlongs at Saratoga, and this defeat was followed by his last and worst, The Fall Highweight Handicap at Belmont Park. In this race he finished a pitiable fourth, last in a field of four. Twelve lengths separated him from the winner.

There never has been in all racing history such a glorious rise and such an inglorious fall. His thirteenth start was his nemesis.

Morvich was a Californian, bred at the Spreckels Farm there. Son of Runnymede from Hymir, he was bred for speed rather than stamina, and he has run true to form there. He was a large colt, standing 15 hands and more, stocky in make-up, short-legged, not a handsome horse as thoroughbreds go, but possessing a fine head.

His total earnings, including the Derby, amount to $165,909. Only five horses in all the history of the American turf have surpassed that figure—Man o'War, Exterminator, Sysonby Domino and Colin.

Four Players, $15,000 In Cash to Angels

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—Walter Colvin, first baseman; Percy Jones, pitcher; George Malsel, outfielder; Marty Krug, infielder, and $15,000 in cash have been turned over to the Angels by the Chicago Cubs for Southpaw Pitcher Nick Dumovich.

Dumovich was picked off the Loretto club, a Los Angeles amateur team, by Wade Kilgiff. Bill Pertica of the St. Louis Nationals and Frank Shellenback of the Vernon club also were developed on the Loretto team.

The Los Angeles club also will get two more players for Dumovich. One of the players is an outfielder whom the Cubs are trying to purchase from a coast league club and is said to be Claude Cooper of Oakland.

Dumovich won 20 and lost 11 games for Los Angeles during the past season. He was the fifth regular pitcher in the league in effectiveness.

College Training Is Won by Young Boy

LINDSBORG, Kan.—A scholarship, valued at $4,000, and which entitles the holder to attend without charge any college or university in the United States for a period of four years has been awarded to Karl Pearson, 16, of this city. His essay on "How to Improve Means of Communication in the United States" was declared the winner in a nationwide contest in which more than 250,000 high school students were entered. First prize was what is known as the "Firestone scholarship."

The youngster is the son of Dr. P. H. Pearson, connected with the Department of Education at Washington, D. C.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Former Pacific coast league baseball players have been an important factor in major league doings during the 1922 season. Hitting the ball is just as important to baseball as swatting your man in boxing, and it is the man who can hit the ball when hits count that win games.

In the official National League averages just released many former Pacific coast league men did their hitting when it counted, the records for "runs batted in" demonstrating the ability of the men in this regard.

Roger Hornsby led the National league with 152 runs batted in, this displacing the former National record of 129 made in 1913 by Gavy Cravath. Hornsby is not a former Coaster but he was closely followed by a former Coast league man in "Irish" Meusel, and then came George Kelly of the New York Giants. Kelly is a San Francisco boy who played with bush ball teams and later with the Pacific Northwest league. Meusel accounted for 132 runs batted in this, also beating Cravath's record of 129. Kelly registered 107 for the season, one of them driving in the run that clinched the pennant for the New York Nationals, and as wind up for the season Kelly batted in the run that made the National men the world's champions.

"Hack" Miller, formerly with the Oakland coast league team, playing with Chicago also kept up his end of batting in the pinches and excepting Meusel and Kelly he batted in more runs than any player from the Pacific Coast, with a total of 78. Jimmy Caney, former San Francisco Seals, now with Cincinnati, was another coaster who hit in the pinches with 54.

Other former coast leaguers and Pacific coast men who drove in runs when wanted were Terry, 67; Krug and Bancroft, 60; Bohne, 51; Johnston, 49; Olson, 47; Fonseca, 45; Stutz, 34; Cunningham, 33; Schmidt and Rowher, 22; Reuther and Lebourveau, 22; Couch, 10; Malsel, 6, and Oeschger, 5.

Hollocher, formerly with Portland and now with Chicago, is another former coaster who was well up in cracking the ball when runs were wanted. He was responsible for 69, but he also made another record for himself in that he was only fanned five times in 152 games. Since the season of 1920 Hollocher has played in 352 consecutive games and has only been fanned thirty-three times.

Offers $350,000 for Dempsey-Willard

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 19.—William H. Klepper, president of the Portland baseball club, was today awaiting an answer from Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, to his offer of $350,000 for a ten-round championship bout between Dempsey and Jess Willard here, July 4, 1923. The bout would be held in the Portland baseball park, the seating capacity to be enlarged to 75,000. Willard is here for a six-round exhibition tonight against two heavyweights. Kearns and Dempsey are in San Diego, Cal.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The Olympic club of San Francisco has posted a notice in its club house requesting that its golfing members read the rules of the game. Of late, there has been a lot of comment in all sections of the country to the effect that newcomers into the ranks of the golfers are ignoring the niceties of the game, than which no other sport known has a code which the dyed in the wool player takes more trouble to live up to.

While many of the rules laid down may seem trivial to the tyro, the sum of them, nevertheless, comprise an important adjunct to the comfort and pleasure derived from a tour of the course. Per-ton, heavyweights, scored a technical knockout over Carl Morris in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

The non-replacement of these fragments of ground may do more to pock mark and deface a course than anything else. With hundreds of these little open sores all over a course, the chances of setting in one of them and thus spoiling what otherwise might be a fine lie is obvious. The feelings of such a victim toward the fellow who failed to observe this rule may well be imagined, and yet it is a common occurrence.

Beginners at the game also are lax in learning the procedure which obtains in the matter of passing through players on a course who are held up by a lost ball or for some other cause. Much discomfort and a bad feeling can be eradicated by a thorough understanding of this feature of the game, a lot of the discomfort of the game arising from this cause.

No game holds a greater amount of psychology than golf and the ruffled feelings of a player will make all the difference between a good and a poor score. One does not necessarily have to get boiling mad to be put out. A slight harassment or a feeling of impatience against the actions, obviously those of a dub, will have the same effect.

Whether or not greens' committees in the future will hold examinations and question players as to their familiarity with the rules remains to be seen, but it would not be a bad idea, and, if generally done, no one could take exception to the practice. Certainly those players who do observe all the little amenities and who are thoroughly familiar with the requirements would welcome any plan which would render them courteous from other players which they themselves are scrupulously giving.

Few novices at bridge or whist would have the temerity to join in a rubber with experts, and while the novice golfer may not be playing with a good player, he is on the same ground and affecting the game.

Ship 400 Chinese Dead Back to China

BOSTON—Chinese who died as long ago as 1889 are included among the 400 whose remains were shipped to China from this port aboard the steamer Esther Dollar recently.

The corpses are in zinc caskets, each four caskets being encased in a wooden packing case marked with Chinese characters. The 100 wooden boxes represent New England Chinese of varying degrees of wealth who have died during the period from 1889 to 1918.

Impressive Ceremonies Take Place Last Night; Talk By Judge Bledsoe

Glendale's principal food products will be included in an "all American meal" and brought to the attention of people in every state in the union through a plan initiated by the Sacramento, Cal., Chamber of Commerce, according to word received this morning by James Bledsoe, secretary of the local chamber.

A. S. Dudley, manager of the Sacramento chamber, says in his communication that the food products in question must be obtainable anywhere in the United States, and they must be all American products. Canned or processed material may be used, but no imported material of any kind can form even the smallest fraction of the commodities, he instructs.

The movement is nation wide, according to Mr. Dudley. He says that all cities in the country are being asked to send a list of its principal food products to the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce Food experts, he explains, will be selected to prepare the menu, which will be brought to the attention of the public through the medium of newspapers and magazines.

Community Benefits
Mr. Dudley says that one of the features of the state advertising campaign will be an "All American Meal Day," at which time people throughout the United States will be asked to serve the products supplied by the Sacramento chamber. In this way he asserts that every community in the country will be benefited in one way or another.

The Sacramento organization is taking the initiative in the novel advertising campaign due to its location in the capital city, where it functions as the state chamber of commerce.

Discuss Colorado Street Improvement

A few people who own Colorado street frontage met in the office of Graham & Wilson, 1120 East Colorado street, last night, to discuss various phases and problems that are of paramount importance to that important thoroughfare. The engineer DuPay was present and gave what information he could in answer to the many questions propounded. The information obtained is substantially as follows:

The street will be widened 20 feet as soon as the work can be accomplished; notices to be posted in January if possible.

It is estimated that it will take from eighteen months to two years to get the necessary court condemnation proceedings completed in order to put in the sidewalks and parkway, during which time the street will be without sidewalks.

The estimated cost of the widening and paving, which does not include sidewalks, will be about $9 per front foot, all of which will be charged to the frontage on Colorado street. This does not include water mains nor any provision for sewer.

A permanent organization will be effected immediately after the first of the year and it is desired that property owners kindly leave their names and addresses with Mr. Kirk at 1120 East Colorado street, in order that they may be properly notified of any action taken.

THEATRES

The Glendale
Another rollicking Owen Moore matrimonial farce is the Seznick offering at the Glendale Theatre today. It concerns the adventure of a young man who, on the eve of his plunge into the depths and mystic waters of wedlock, is confronted by a very determined "old flame" he had believed long since extinguished.

In a desperate effort to convince this young thing that her love is hopeless, Anthony Churchill, the character played by Moore, tells her he is married and the father of six children. He even agrees to prove this and engages a woman and her half dozen youngsters to help him in the subterfuge. Marjorie Daw, playing the role of the girl he is to marry, then comes into the picture for a further ensnarlment and delightful finale.

The T. D. & L.
Constance Talmadge and "East Is West"—a combination to charm the most critical patron of the "playhouse." This union of scintillating comedienne and one of the greatest stage successes of recent years, yesterday opened its run as a First National attraction at the T. D. & L. Theatre and proved to be the most entertaining production seen here in a long time.

The role of dainty, tempestuous, lovable Mong Toy gives Miss Talmadge her greatest opportunity and she makes the most of it. The Oriental atmosphere has been excellently carried out under the masterful direction of Sydney Franklin. Not only are the scenes rich and colorful, but many of them are of great pictorial beauty, setting the brilliant star off like a rich jewel.

Pauline Frederick Leaves Her Husband

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—Pauline Frederick, stage and screen star, has separated from her husband, Dr. Rutherford, well known Seattle physician, whom she married at Riverside last June, according to information obtained from friends of Miss Frederick today.

Incompatibility was given as the cause of separation but no mention was made of plans for divorce.

The separation, it was stated, occurred four months ago, shortly after Miss Frederick went east to be starred in the new Al H. Wood stage production "Lawful Larceny."

Dr. Rutherford has returned to his home in Seattle, and the palatial home of Miss Frederick in Beverly Hills is being occupied by her aunt and uncle, who was her business manager.

According to friends of Miss Frederick, she and Dr. Rutherford never lived together as man and wife. Dr. Rutherford is a second cousin of the star, being a first cousin of her mother.

Miss Frederick, her friends say, hoped to establish an agreeable private life by her marriage to the physician. She expected Dr. Rutherford, who is one of Seattle's most prominent physicians, to continue his medical practice in Los Angeles.

Dr. Rutherford however, it was stated, made plans to retire from his profession after his marriage. He was said to have refused several offers of connections in his work in this city.

The marriage of Dr. Rutherford and Miss Frederick was a big surprise to the many friends of "Polly," as the star is affectionately known.

You can buy it in Glendale.

A Gift That Grows

—To select gifts of a permanent or lasting character and at the same time keep within the amount that you think you can afford to spend, is a real problem for Christmas shoppers. Most gifts of that kind are quite expensive. You will perhaps welcome a suggestion at this time that will solve your problem easily and quickly. Give a Christmas Bank Account for any sum, $1.00 or more.

—In six months or a year from now ordinary Christmas gifts will have been worn out or forgotten. But the Bank Account you give now will have actually grown in value, for it draws compound interest at 4 per cent, credited twice a year.

—With each Christmas account we loan free a handsome nicked Home Safe in an attractive Christmas package.

—Come in and make your arrangements today.

Show Will Be Held at Court Motor Company; Display $15,000 Chassis

A cut-open Cadillac chassis and five reels of film, planned particularly to show those refinements of manufacture by which American industry combines standardized production with skill and accuracy in creating a high-grade product, are the unusual features of a display to be held tonight in the showroom of the Court Motor Co., Cadillac dealers, 235 South Brand boulevard.

"The standard chassis," according to W. H. Court, head of the local firm, "is cut away in such a manner that its operation can be easily studied. It is raised on supports and is wired throughout for special interior lighting. At the outset the film unfolds a panorama over factory roofs which cover more than forty-five acres of floor space—the home of the car and gull house of more than 7000 craftsmen.

"It then carries the spectator to the physical and chemical laboratory, and thence within the factory proper. It features single operations showing how extreme accuracy can be combined with quantity production.

Factory Interior Shown "Aided by a 2,000,000 candle-power Sunlight arc, the camera has recorded faithfully and without favor minutest details. The projector returns to the audience, in the course of the play, interesting examples of machine operations, careful tests, and uses of many gauges and indicators.

"What has especially impressed spectators at preliminary showings has been the clearness with which delicate processes and exacting tests, necessary to production of a high-grade engine, can be vividly depicted by the all-revealing device of the 'close up.' An owner, seated before the silver screen, sees a trusty worker—maybe one who has worked on his own car—carefully measuring parts to a small fraction of a hair's breadth.

"In producing the film, the cinema photographer has revealed in taking close-ups and medium close-ups. They give one in the audience an impression of standing at the very elbow of skilled and seasoned artisans. The trip through the factory becomes intimate and personal, and continuous action on the screen carries the spectator from the first pouring of metal in foundry, through machining and assembling processes in the factory, to the arrival of the finished masterpiece at the loading dock."

Madame Bernhardt's Career Over, Report

PARIS, Dec. 19.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt, world's most famous actress, will never again appear upon the stage owing to ill health, it was announced today.

Madame Bernhardt collapsed from heart weakness while rehearsing yesterday and since then has been under the care of two physicians, Dr. Desse and Dr. Margot.

The physicians issued a bulletin at noon, saying: "The crisis is happily past, but Bernhardt must give up the stage for a long period."

BICKNELL YOUNG TELLS OF SCIENCE

Lecturer From Chicago Is Speaker Last Night to Large Gathering

Bicknell Young, C. S. B., of Chicago, Ill., last night addressed a large gathering at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on the subject, "Christian Science."

Mr. Young, who is a member of the Mother Church, of Boston, Mass., explained in detail some of the teachings of the science of life. He said in part:

"What is this Science? Do the theories of prevailing educational systems indicate or reveal it? All theories of general education are predicated upon the certainty and necessity of sin, disease, and death. Such theories are self-contradictory. They have been accepted and tried for centuries utterly in vain. With circumstances all in their favor, and supported by the overwhelming consensus of human faith and education, they have utterly failed. Under such beliefs, and unaided by Christian Science, living is tantamount to mere physical endurance and final chaos. Christian Science takes issue with all such theories and conclusions. It appeals to the higher nature, to reason and logic, and educates us in the Science of Life, the Science of real thinking, which is the greatest need of the age.

We Live and Think "We are living and thinking, and we have got to go on living and thinking in order to accomplish anything whatsoever. The evidence of our senses gives us no hint of what Life really is, and when, from this standpoint, we consider life, we indulge in mere speculation, unless Christian Science comes to our rescue and gives us the right idea.

"Permanent value must be the criterion by which we judge. With this criterion in view, greater improvements than are yet dreamed of will come to light, and by the same token, things that are now accepted as natural will vanish under the revelation of the true naturalness of an existence that has its being, function, and law in the God or creator who is wholly good.

"We have already been taught in the ordinary curriculum of school or college to value great and beautiful thoughts. Christian Science takes us much farther. It shows us that really great thoughts and strictly pure ideals in themselves constitute the activity of true Science. Thus it is that the thoughts which reveal God in Christian Science possess interest and power beyond any thoughts that can be entertained by mankind.

Source Is High

"The Science of true living and true thinking is thus drawn from a higher source than that of mere ordinary human experiences. To investigate it required research of the most unselfish, painstaking, and persistent nature. Such was the research that Mary Baker Eddy entered upon and carried on for years. It culminated in the discovery of that Science which she named Christian Science. She saw the vast importance of distinguishing between the true and the false, between the real and the unreal. She observed the permanent nature of certain facts and this led her to the conclusion that such facts constitute immortality.

"All the prejudices of sectarianism were instinctively arrayed against such a proposition, and yet it promised nothing less than complete redemption for the human race. Even now, after all of Mrs. Eddy's great work, Christian Science is not universally accepted; but the signs of the times are portentous and inspiring. Why should they be other wise, when Christian Science fulfills the hopes of the Christian world?"

"Christian Scientists do not fail to take cognizance of the difficulties which beset the race as well as the individual. They are not engaged in any superficial, altruistic theory. They claim to have common sense; and the history of this movement shows clearly that, as a class, Christian Scientists are eminently practical."

Richardson Budget Shows Great Cut

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—A budget of $79,000,000 for the coming biennium will be submitted to the 1923 legislature, according to announcement today by Governor-Elect Friend W. Richardson.

Richardson's budget shows a decrease of $2,000,000 below the budget of $81,000,000 submitted to the 1921 legislature by Governor William D. Stephens. The last legislature, however, passed appropriation measures amounting to approximately $7,000,000, and, as these were approved by Stephens, the budget for the closing biennium reached the figure of $88,202,283. Thus Richardson's first budget will be approximately $9,000,000 less than the final budget of the present governor.

The budget of $79,000,000 contemplated by Richardson does not include estimated revenues and disbursements of self-supporting state departments which are now being filed with the state board of control.

Mint Bandits Leave No Clue in Denver

DENVER, Dec. 19.—With hundreds of police, secret service men and private detectives combing the countryside within a radius of 200 miles of Denver all night, no definite clues had been discovered early today of the four bandits who robbed a federal reserve bank truck of $200,000 in currency in front of the Denver mint yesterday, fatally shot one guard and escaped with one of their number wounded from a hail of bullets from scores of rifles and revolvers in the hands of mint employees.

Hundreds of telephone reports from the surrounding country came to police headquarters that the bandits had been seen, one arrest was made and Eva Lewis.

Find Airplane Used By Missing Fliers

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 19. The mail plane lost in a Utah blizzard last Friday has been found on Porecupine ridge, forty miles from Salt Lake City, but Pilot Boonstra is still missing, according to advices to the postoffice department today.

Gets Special Cars For Christmas Mail

The big problem of getting all the Christmas packages and letters to Glendale won't have to be solved by Santa Claus, D. Ripley Jackson and his assistants, for a communication was received this morning by Postmaster Jackson announcing special independent cars for handling holiday parcel post packages and letters en route to Glendale.

Information contained in the announcement is that there will be independent cars running between Los Angeles and Glendale December 19 to 23 inclusive, leaving Los Angeles at 1:15 p. m., arriving at Glendale 1:50 p. m., returning directly to Los Angeles after delivery of mail in Glendale. Postmaster Jackson states that the additional service is over a previous request and that the cars are special independent cars and will carry no passengers.
